FLITE vs. Wizards – March Madness to Benefit T/E Students

FLITE Announces Second Harlem Wizards Game to Satisfy Huge Ticket Demand

T/E FLITE Volunteers Kate Stone and Chris Caine prepare for March Madness Wizards' Style.

Berwyn, PA - February 25, 2013 – FLITE (Foundation for Learning in Tredyffrin/Easttown) has announced that, due to overwhelming demand, the Harlem Wizards will stay for a second night of spirited basketball competition against T/E teachers, administrators and students. Last year FLITE's fundraiser at Conestoga High School drew a sell-out crowd of nearly 2,000, and this year tickets for the March 15 event sold out in one day, leaving many community members disappointed. So FLITE's event committee and the Wizards quickly arranged for the team to stay an extra day and play again on March 16. The second round of tickets is already sold out, demonstrating the community's interest in this popular event and strong support of FLITE, a non-profit education foundation that funds programs benefitting T/E students from preschool through high school. Several sponsorship opportunities for local businesses or individuals to sponsor this year's Wizards games remain available including Major Event, Concessions and Security. For information contact Chris Caine at cdcaine@yahoo.com or visit http://www.flite-pa.org.

Event Co-Chair, Chris Caine said, "I have thought a lot about why this event is so popular, and I think it is because it is a happy community event. The game allows the kids to see their teachers in a fun setting – with energetic music and lots of laughs. We are so fortunate to have a great school system with teachers and administrators who genuinely care about the students and support this event."

Proceeds from the games will go towards funding FLITE programs, such as the After School Homework Program, Music in Our Schools, Preschool Tuition Assistance, Summer Reading Books, Innovation in the Classroom and more. FLITE's primary goal is to ensure that students with financial or environmental barriers have the tools they need to succeed. FLITE volunteers build partnerships, generate private funding and engage community support to enhance the educational experience of all T/E students.
